

CHARACTER BUILDING

PROJECT TITLE:

Character Name:

Age:

Occupation:

Myers Briggs Personality type:

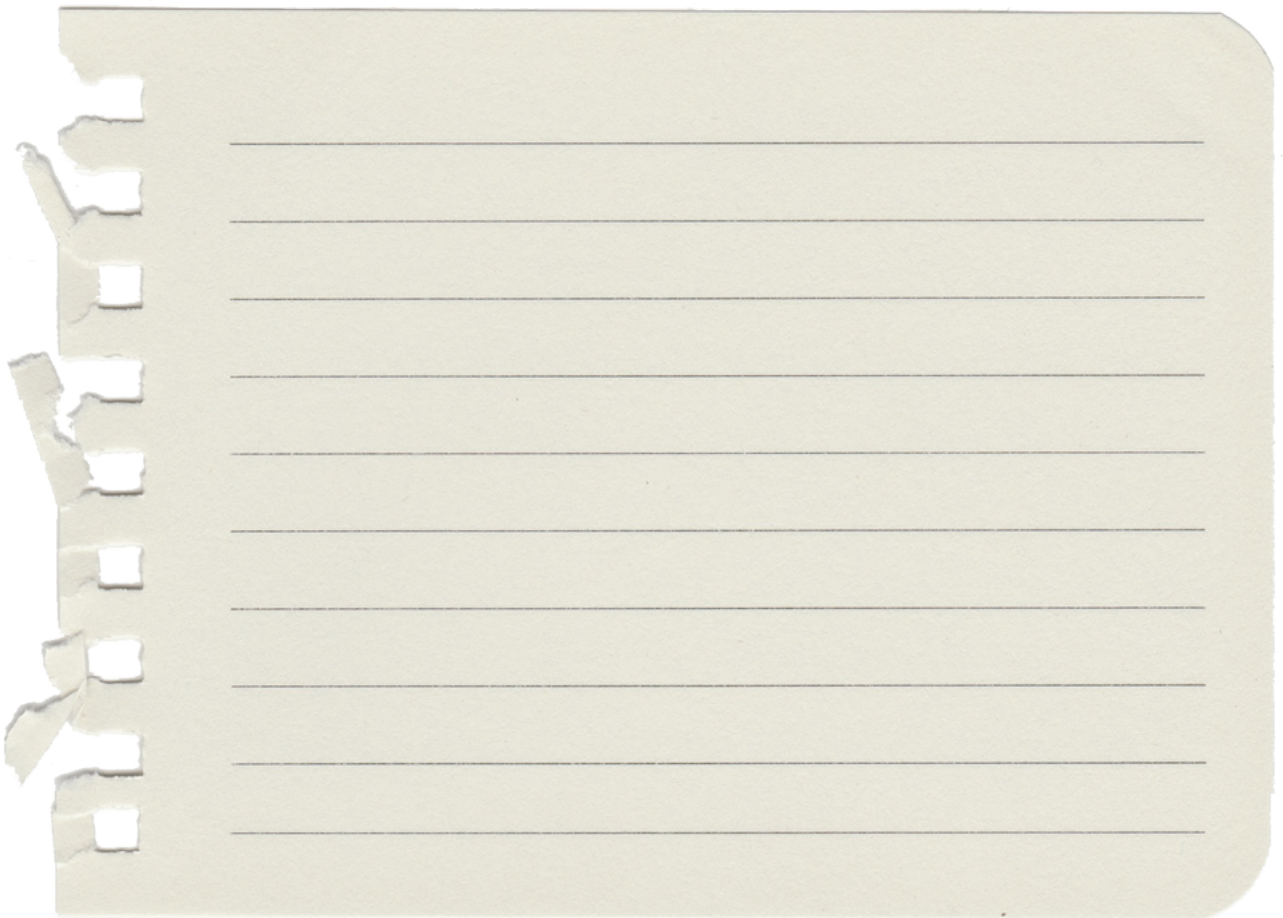

Strengths	Weaknesses	Romantic Relationships	Friendships	Career
Ex. Rational, creative, open-minded	Ex. Stubborn, uncompromising, apathetic	Ex. Values intelligence, ambition, and originality	Ex. Prefers time alone, has one or two close friends	Ex. Philosopher

Diary Entry

Instructions: Write a diary entry in your character's voice. For example:

I went to campus today. I haven't left my room in what feels like weeks. The sun on my face, the wind in my hair; it was strange, surprising even. I was late to class even though I left early because I saw Cynthia and she wanted to know where I'd been. She's nice, she means well. But for the life of her, she can't take a hint. Or maybe I need to be more direct. I hate how I haven't developed that part of me...

Prompts to get you thinking

- What does your character value? Ex. honesty, integrity, empathy
- What does your character fear?
- What does your character want?
- What's stopping them from getting it?
- Who is their biggest supporter?
- Their biggest enemy? (What's working against them)
- What do they want to change?
- What do they need?
- What would tear their world apart if they lost?
- What are they bad at? (flaws)
- What do they do in their free time?
- How do they handle emotions?
- How do they speak? (refer to your diary entry to develop this trait)